ALLIES CHASE NAZIS BACK TOWARD ROME

MAY BOGAN, Spartanburg, N. C., redhead, left, and Alice Olson, Ashland, Wis., blonde, center, are shown shortly after they were each fined $50 and costs in woman's court in Chicago on charges of disorderly conduct preferred by Mrs. Elizabeth Knauber, right, wife of Howard Knauber, sales engineer, who said she "grabbed" a cab and curbed Knauber's car upon seeing him and the girls in it in Chicago's Loop with the "Olson girl draped around his neck," after which a free-for-all ensued. The Misses Olson and Bogan showed up in court with eloquent shiners and, being without funds, may spend time in the Bridewell to satisfy the fines and costs imposed by Judge Frank S. Donegheue. Allies Closing in On Japs in Burma

Enemy Force Annihilated in India and Similar Fate Faces Nips Caught at Myitkyna—Island Bases Are Bombed Again—Chinese Still in Desperate Predicament

(By the Associated Press)

Allied troops have advanced a mile and a half toward the Japanese North Burma base of Myitkyna, bringing the inevitable defeat of the outnumbered Japanese ever nearer, southeast Asia headquarters announced Friday.

The Chinese have scored additional victories over Japanese forces by capturing the North Burma town of Warang, 12 miles northeast of Kamaing, and seized a supply dump in the Mogaung Valley. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Japs.

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

A quarter of a century or more ago Maple Grove Hotel and Sulphur Lick Hotel, in the Ross County hills about midway between Frankfort and Chillicothe, were two of the best known health resorts in this part of the United States and part of the time it was difficult to obtain accommodations there.

I recall one time I was coming up on the old C. H. and D. from a visit at Gallipolis, and wanted to stop at Maple Grove Hotel over night.

Leaving Chillicothe the conductor, an old friend of mine, took my ticket, saw it was "Sulphur Lick" and promptly said: "Have you got a nail with you?"

"Spring it!" I countered. "Well, you will need a nail to hang yourself up on if you are going to stay at one of those hotels over night—they are full to overflowing."

I took a chance, however, and when I reached Maple Grove Hotel, which was then owned to a large extent by Washington C. H. and Fayette County capital, with V. J. Dahl as the manager, I almost needed the nail for every room was taken.

D. S. Craig was stopping at the hotel at the time and very kindly offered to share his room with me, so that I was not turned out amid the dark hills of Ross County in the middle of the night. D. S. will never know what his little act of neighborliness meant to me, but such kindly acts have always been characteristic of D. S.

But getting back to the two health resort hotels—the one is still used somewhat, but the big one, Maple Grove, was closed years ago and lost its founders a great deal of money.

The same fine medicinal waters are still in the shale hills that made the place famous, and sometime it may once more become a real health resort.

PLAN TO AVOID RATIONING OF COAL BEING OUTLINED

COLUMBUS, May 27.—(AP)—Equitable distribution of coal to avoid rationing has been mapped by the Solid Fuels Administration in Washington, delegates to the Ohio Coal Conference were told yesterday by M. L. Patton, Cincinnati coal executive.

Chinese are in pursuit of retreating Japanese who escaped with severe losses from a trap at Tatangzu, "the highest battlefield in the world," on the Salween front, the Chinese high command announced.

Jap Force Annihilated
Meanwhile southwest of Imphal in India, a Japanese battalion was reported to have been "practically annihilated and the commander killed." In direct support of the ground troops, Royal Air Force and Indian Air Force fighters and dive-bombers registered two direct hits on the Manipur River bridge, again cutting off communications serving the 33rd Japanese division at the edge of the Imphal plain.

Planes from the Chinese-American wing of the 14th Army Air Force strafed enemy troops in the vicinity of Loyang, the ancient Chinese city whose probable fall to the Japanese has been conceded, a communiqué from Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced.

Island Bases Bombed
Army, Navy and Marine fliers in the central and north Pacific again have bombed Japanese bases in the Kurile, Caroline and Marshall islands. These new blows, announced by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, were the 22nd in May on Ponape in the eastern Carolines, the third on nearby Kusaie Island, the 14th on the Kuriles and continuation of the daily assaults on isolated enemy Marshall atolls.

In the southwest Pacific, General MacArthur's planes lashed out through the 22nd day of the pounding against the Schouten islands.

GOVERNORS GATHER FOR CONFERENCE
HERSHEY, Pa., May 27.—(AP)—Eight of the state and territorial executives coming here for the 36th annual governors conference on state and national problems were expected to arrive today in this model community where sessions of the four-day gathering open tomorrow.

Governors who will attend include Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio.

TAFT SAYS TREASURY MISINTERPRETS LAW
Pension Trust Law Not Social Security Sub

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) charged the treasury department with falsely interpreting the pension trust law as a plan to supplement the social security act.

In a senate finance subcommittee meeting yesterday, Taft said any attempt to parallel private pension plans with social security "is a social concept of the treasury, but not the law."

Taft said he favored a limitation of the amount of money a company can hold in trust for an employee with tax exemption.

ROME WILL FALL, GERMANS ADMIT

Nazi Broadcast Reveals City Won't Be Defended

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON, May 27.—(AP)—The Germans have opened a propaganda campaign preparing for the fall of Rome, and through the Vichy radio have spread word that Nazi forces would retire to a new defense line to the north without defending the city.

Quoting a German military spokesman, the Vichy broadcast last night said capture of Rome "would bring no new element in the general conduct of the war except for the prestige which would be gained in this success."

Announcement that the city would not be defended was seen in London as possibly carrying a double purpose:

1. To ease the shock among the German people and Hitler's satellites when the city falls.

2. To set the stage for placing responsibility on the Allies for any damage the Eternal City might suffer.

With the fifth army driving against the last line of defense less than 20 miles to the south, gunfire already could be heard in Rome—pictured by neutral reports as a city of confusion, rumors and hunger.

In the past few days through Vichy have come wholly-unconfirmed reports that no German soldiers are in the city and that even the wounded have disappeared.

The Vichy broadcast last night, without locating the line to which it said Field Marshal Albert Kesselring's forces would retire, said the Germans had been fortifying this line for months.

While on various occasions the Germans have tried to designate Rome as an open city, their claim never has been accepted by the Allies.

WARD PLANT SEIZURE POLITICAL ISSUE
After Report of Senate Committee

TRIP TO LONDON BY PRESIDENT NOW IN OFFING

Whether It Will Be for Close View of Invasion Is One Of Big Capital Topics

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Suggesting that this summer's Allied operations against Hitler Europe be described as liberation rather than invasion, President Roosevelt has left open the possibility that he might be close at hand to see some of it happen.

He told reporters at his news conference yesterday that he hopes to confer again with Prime Minister Churchill in the summer, the fall, or the latter spring, naming the seasons in that order.

By ruling out winter as a possible time for the conference, on the ground that he does not like to cross the Atlantic at that time of year, Mr. Roosevelt indicated it probably will be he who does the traveling.

It was not brought out whether Mr. Roosevelt's reference to late spring as a possible time for the meeting applied to the few remaining weeks of spring, 1944, or to next year, after the presidential election and inauguration.

The bantering nature of the president's remarks left to his listeners any interpretation of fourth-term implications in his words.

How his travel intentions might coincide with the invasion timetable remains completely obscure. The secrecy concerning the invasion has not let up. Nor has Mr. Roosevelt's deliberate ambiguity about his planned travels.

Several current factors have suggested the president might want to make the trip, one being the forthcoming visit of General Charles de Gaulle to London for conferences with Mr. Churchill.

He observed during his news conference yesterday that the Allies are much farther ahead with their plans for a smash into Europe this time than they were at the same time in the first World War. And he expressed the

41,000 KEPT IDLE BY LABOR DISPUTES

Detroit and Lumber Cities Center of Troubles

(By the Associated Press)

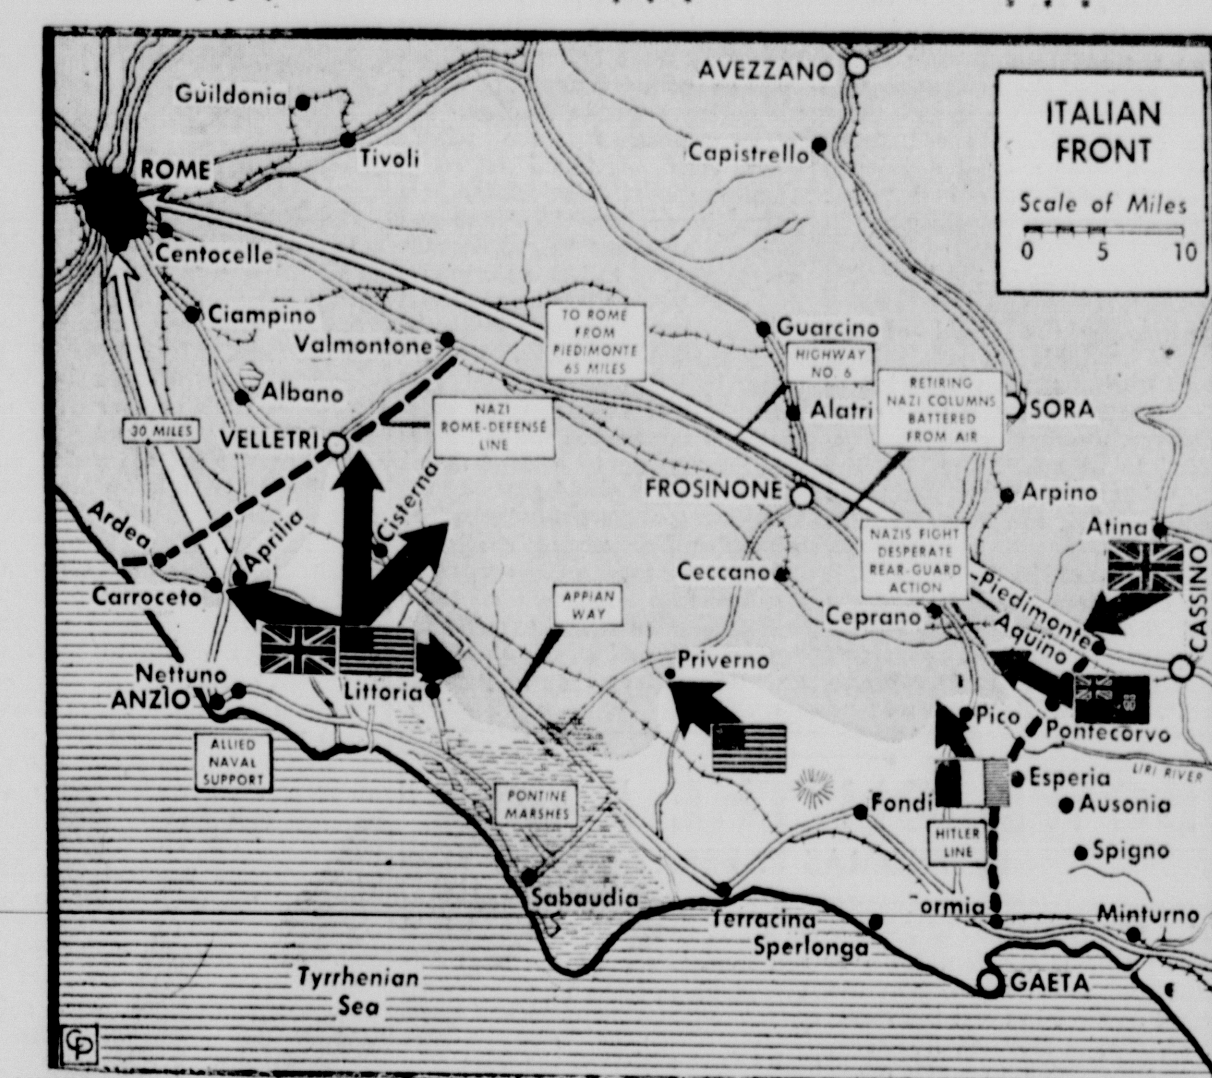

Labor disputes, new and old, kept an estimated 41,000 of the country's industrial workers away from their jobs today and there was no indication that settlement of the controversies was imminent.

The chief troubles along the nation's labor front centered in the Pacific northwest lumber industry and in Detroit's war industry area. There were more than 100 lines of lumbering operations in Washington and Oregon affected by the disputes, with from 25,000 to 30,000 employees idle.

In the Detroit area, a fresh labor controversy arose as pickets appeared at the Chrysler Corporation's Highland Park plant, keeping 1,500 employees from going to work yesterday. After the pickets appeared President R. J. Thomas of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) said that the instigators faced possible expulsion from the Union. The new disturbance followed the recent dispute which had affected 11,700 workers at seven of the company's units in the Detroit area.

anything to do with the seizure. Attorney General Biddle, target for the committee's sharpest blasts, replied the committee findings were "absurd," and, protesting that he had been given no opportunity to appear before it, said the senate group's hearings were akin to "star chamber" proceedings.

President Roosevelt, when advised that the report had sug-

TRAVEL RUSH SEEN FOR THIS WEEK END

Transportation Companies Expect Increase

New York, May 27.—(AP)—Transportation officials rolled up their sleeves today in anticipation of handling Memorial Day week end travel 15 per cent greater than last year, despite repeated appeals for a minimum of trips over the holiday.

Bus companies and airlines said they expected capacity business while railroad officials looked for a 10 to 15 per cent increase over the similar week end in 1943.

The Pennsylvania Railroad said the travel rush got underway late yesterday with many servicemen entering the city. The peak of the outgoing travel is expected this afternoon.

The New York Central Railroad reported all Pullman reservations for the week end had been sold and no reserved coach tickets were available on such trains as the Pacemaker and Empire State.

Col. J. Monroe Johnson, Office of Defense Transportation director, issued a last minute appeal in Washington yesterday for civilians to stay at home over the holiday week end and not travel unnecessarily.

ELECTION TO BE DECIDED BY LOT WHEN VOTE TIED

COLUMBUS, May 27.—(AP)—State Secretary Edward J. Hummel said Rep. Robert A. Wilkins and Harry D. Bellis, tied with 1,095 votes each in the Republican nomination race for state representative from Van Wert County, must decide "by lot" within five days who shall be the nominee.

In the event this decision is not made, the dispute will be submitted to the board of election, Hummel said yesterday.

ESCAPE ROUTE FOR GERMANS BEING CLOSED

Russian Front Is Ominously Quiet But Pre-invasion Air Attack Goes On

(Special to the Record-Herald)

A Fifth Army spearhead cutting deep toward the Germans' new Rome line pierced today within 2½ miles of strategic Via Cassilina, main escape route for Nazis falling back from the armor-littered battleground of defeat in the Liri valley.

Advance units thrust near Artena, just south of the fortress town of Valmontone guarding the Via Cassilina, while nearer the coast main forces closed upon flaming Velletri on the Appian Way, strongpoint only 16 miles below Rome.

The Germans were hastily pulling guns back into the Alban hills on the southern fringe of the Eternal City. Axis propaganda radios declared the Germans would not defend Rome—already quivering to the sound of artillery thunder—but would form a new defense line farther north.

German losses in prisoners alone passed 13,000.

Russian Front Quiet

The Russian front still was ominously quiet, but Moscow told of a sharp air blow on Nazi troopships in the Barents Sea north of Norway, claiming two troop-carriers and a destroyer were sunk and three vessels damaged.

In the uneasy Balkans, the Germans disclosed a Commando raid on the stepping-stone Isle of Mijet off Yugoslavia, and air headquarters in Naples announced Danube River traffic had been nearly crippled by mine-laying over vast stretches of that water route.

Field Marshal Albert Kesselring flung in reserves at the most critical points of the main Italian front, where his army, bled strenuously of men and of wrecked or abandoned equipment, was being thrown rapidly back to the line below Rome.

Air Assault Goes On
The Rhine River cities of Karlsruhe and Mannheim were struck by American heavy bombers today in a powerful resumption of the Allied pre-invasion aerial offensive, the German radio announced.

The broadcast said unfavorable weather kept all but a few German interceptors from making contact with the bomber formations and their fighter escorts.

Residential quarters of the two cities were hard hit with "substantial quantities" of explosives and incendiaries, the radio added.

'GOOD WILL DINNERS' HELD FOR BRICKER

Affairs Designed To Get Support for Ohioan

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker's campaign managers are pressing a program they assert will swing Republican congressional opinion to the Ohioan in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

A series of "good will" dinners—the first by Rep. Ed Rowe of Akron—have been arranged at which every Republican member of congress will be invited.

Similar affairs will be arranged by each of the other 19 Ohio Republicans in the house, an announcement said last night.

Rowe said several of his guests were strongly committed to Dewey when they arrived, but added they "left with open minds."

YANK HANGED FOR SLAYING

LONDON, May 27.—(AP)—Pvt. Wiley Harris of Greenville, Ga., was hanged today for killing a civilian in Belfast. The U. S. Army headquarters announcement did not disclose the place of execution.

For The Farmers Of Fayette County

SAY CONFUSION CAUSED RUSH OF HOGS TO MARKET

Freezing Corn in Midwest Had Effect -- Easier Markets Soon

Government orders freezing corn in midwest states some weeks ago combined with notification that the OPA ceiling price on hogs weighing more than 240 pounds would be reduced 75 cents per hundredweight after May 15, caused many farmers in Fayette County and throughout the corn belt as well, to rush hogs into an over-loaded market. Farm marketing specialists at Ohio State University state the situation, which has caused thousands of hogs to be "backed up on farms" in this community, will improve shortly.

The specialists point out that, in normal times, price fluctuations on hogs and on other livestock act as a balance upon the number of animals being sent to market. This influence does not exist in times of support and ceiling prices and the livestock is crammed into the markets as long as processors can handle the influx.

The result in recent weeks was the imposition of embargoes on livestock shipments to some points and also the allocation of permits to ship animals. The marketing specialists advise the farmers to avoid these artificial restraints on sales by watching market supplies closely and by selling hogs only when they reach weights which are protected by price controls.

A considerable number of hogs were sold recently in Ohio at weights under 200 pounds and at prices as much as $1.50 a hundredweight below support prices. These hogs would have used feed more efficiently than it would be used by heavier animals which could be sold at support prices, it is pointed out.

OPA officials have announced that hog support prices will drop $1.25 per hundredweight October 1, 1944, and the lowered price will apply only to good and choice hogs weighing 200 to 240 pounds. The market men believe farmers should plan to sell hogs weighing 210 to 225 pounds at present, feed light hogs as economically as possible and should sell properly finished hogs before October 1, to avoid possible market gluts after that date.

70 PER CENT OF CORN IS PLANTED

Rains Again Delay Work in Wide Area

Approximately 70 per cent of the cornland in Fayette County has been planted and if weather permits virtually all of the remainder will be planted within the next few days.

Rains over a wide area halted planting Friday and Saturday and if the ground is in condition Sunday much corn will be planted then, as well as other work done, as farmers, pressed for lack of time and by the labor shortages, have been and will continue to do a great deal of work on Sundays in order to meet the production demands.

OUTLOOK FOR WINTER WHEAT DEPRESSES PRICES BUT DROP NOT EXPECTED TO BE GREAT

By TOM WILLIAMS
CHICAGO, May 27.—(P)—The approach of the winter wheat harvest, believed likely to exceed even the most optimistic forecasts, affected the futures market during the past week and there was some evidence of hedging pressure. The market developed an easier undertone and prices dropped to a new low since late in 1943.

An inclination to the bear side became evident and brokers saw a possibility the trend of the market would be irregularly lower during the flush period of the movement of the new crop. However, the decline was not expected to be great, due to the sharp demand for cash grain and the availability of the government loan.

Indicative of the desire to await new crop developments was the willingness of flour buyers to take delivery on previous contracts without adding to their commitments. Meanwhile, millers found themselves forced to curtail operations because of the scarcity of grain for current and nearby requirements while at the same time they were being offered almost unlimited amounts of wheat for delivery within 60 days.

The outlook for the winter wheat crop continued excellent despite some deterioration reported in western Oklahoma and in parts of Texas where damage was attributed to lack of rain and to hot weather. The loss in these sections, however, was expected to be more than offset by increased yields elsewhere.

Seeding of wheat was completed in some areas and the grain was coming up to a good stand. Minnesota, Iowa and parts of the Midwest were behind planting schedules because of continued rains. In the wet areas in southwestern Minnesota there was indication some acreage intended for spring wheat would go into other crops, possible corn.

STOCK PILES UP AT YARDS AND IN FEED LOTS

Supply Not Excessive But Packers Handicapped In Handling

CHICAGO, May 27.—(P)—Hog marketings became more difficult this week as livestock continued to pile up at terminals throughout the midwest.

Although the current supply of hogs would not ordinarily be excessive, markets and packing plants are facing a holiday next Tuesday and a possible labor shortage on Monday which will cut sharply the slaughtering schedules. By the middle of the past week there were already more than enough hogs on hand at several markets to meet the restricted outlet.

At the Chicago Union Stockyards the Livestock Exchange announced that killing capacity until after next Wednesday would be uncertain and although local buying and selling interests would do everything possible to reduce the glut, the country's help was needed to return conditions to normal. Many traders believed that more drastic methods should be employed to curtail further shipments.

Marketing controls were further tightened at several terminals by placing embargoes on incoming shipments and at some points permits for hogs already scheduled to arrive were cancelled.

Some observers said the tight feed situation in parts of the middle west is one of the factors influencing the present liquidation, however, there has been little indication that an unusually large number of underweight or unfinished hogs are being dumped on the market. In fact the support class of well finished medium weight butchers have predominated both receipts and holdovers for the past few weeks. Packers have shown a preference for the weights outside the brackets, currently selling at the lowest levels in over two years.

Strictly good and choice fed steers and yearlings were 25 cents higher for the week. The extreme top of $17.15 was a new crop high. Increased hog receipts, extremely narrow demand, and liberal daily holdovers featured the week's trade with prices 10 to 15 cents lower on heavy weights, steady on others. Good and choice fed woolled western lambs topped for the week at $15.75.

Wheat throughout this community is heading and reports from several farmers indicate that the heads are large, indicating a good yield is in prospect.

One authority on wheat, discussing the present good outlook for a crop, declares that a dry June is now about all that is necessary to insure a good crop.

Asia is about 6,000 miles from east to west and 5,300 from north to south.

LEADING his Mustang squadron beyond Berlin, Capt. Mike Sobanski, above, of New York City, wreaked the revenge he had been planning for the last five years. His squadron destroyed six planes, blew up an ammunition dump and damaged two warehouses, a factory, three military trucks and a radio station. In 1939, German pilots strafed a train on which Sobanski was riding, breaking three of his ribs and starting him on a series of hardships. Now he has paid off. (International)

65 AIRCRAFT CARRIERS IN U. S. FLEET NOW, REPORT

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(P)—Sixty-five aircraft carriers now are in active service with the fleet. The disclosure was made yesterday by Artemus L. Gates, assistant navy secretary for air. Gates revealed also that navy planes of all types will soon total some 37,700.

More than 50,000 U. S. doctors are engaged in war work.

FEW LOANS ON WHEAT LIKELY HERE ON PRESENT $1.28 RATE UNLESS CASH MARKET DROPS

Government loans on the 1944 crop of wheat, at an average of $1.28 per bushel, as compared with an average of $1.23 on the 1943 crop, may result in few loans being made in Fayette County, due to the higher price of wheat that is looming.

Loans on Ohio wheat will be made on a basis of $1.49 at Chicago for No. 1 hard winter wheat, and the loan to the farmers would be the difference between this price and transportation costs.

Seven cents per bushel storage allowance will be advanced at the time of the loan on all farm-stored wheat. Loans mature on demand but not later than April 30, 1945, and loans may be liquidated any time by payment of the principal plus 3 per cent interest from the date of the note.

At the present time $1.61 is being paid for wheat in this county, and indications are that the market price will be so much higher than the government loan price that there will be few if any loans. Last year there were practically no loans, but the year before the loans were many.

INDIANAPOLIS MINISTER HEADS PRESBYTERIANS

CHICAGO, May 27.—(P)—The Rev. Dr. Roy Ewing Vale, 59-year-old Indianapolis minister, is the new moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America.

Dr. Vale's election to the church's high office came yesterday at the opening of the 156th annual General Assembly after three ballots. He received 272 of the 453 votes by commissioners to win over Dr. George Emerson Barnes of Philadelphia and Dr. Robert Bisset Whyte of Cleveland.

So Says Missionary Who Tells Of Atrocities

COLUMBUS, May 27.—(P)—The complete truth about the suffering of the Poles remains to be told, an American missionary said last night.

Dr. Gaither Warfield told the sixth annual Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church "stories that come out of Europe are not as bad as the truth. I've seen things far worse than anything printed in American newspapers."

A missionary in Poland for 22 years, Dr. Wakefield was in Warsaw at the outbreak of the war. Dr. Horace Dewey, repatriated missionary to China, told the conference that prisoners in the Philippines who survived the atrocities of May, 1942, probably still are alive and faring better.

MANPOWER PROBLEM OF NATION CRITICAL

General Suggests Closing Night Clubs, Poolrooms

CHICAGO, May 27.—(P)—The nation's manpower problem, says Lt. Gen. Brehon Somervell, is critical, but it must be solved and he suggests that "if we have to close the night clubs, let's lock them up—and the poolrooms and bowling alleys with them."

And, the commanding general of the Army service forces said in a speech last night, entertainers who have lost their jobs in night clubs because of a new tax law should find no difficulty in getting work in war industries.

"There are plenty of jobs for them in your plants," Gen. Somervell told a conference of 1,000 executives and industrialists. "On the railroads and steamships that are carrying the guns and ammunition to our fighting men."

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACNEVIN

Evidence increases that the Allies already have reduced Japan's outlying Pacific defenses to such a low state as to render her inner bulwarks highly vulnerable to the great offensive which certainly will come as soon as the Hitlerian war is over—and maybe sooner.

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal says our sea warfare has been so successful that Japan's outer Pacific defenses have been beaten down to the level of a "line of defense in name only." Eugene Burns, Associated Press war correspondent who has just returned home from the Pacific theater, declares Nippon's defensive perimeter is so weak that our Navy could slice through it at will. As a matter of fact, Burns adds, the Japanese are "operating everywhere on a shoestring."

These results are amazing, especially in view of Japan's preparedness at the outset of the war and the advantage she gained by her treachery at Pearl Harbor. They've been achieved in three ways. (1) By sinking the huge total of 3,000,000 tons of Nippon's shipping, thereby crippling her sea communications; (2) By such destruction of her warplanes and warships that she no longer can defend her remaining supply ships or outlying island strongholds; (3) Amphibious operations which have captured base after base and so have carried us steadily nearer the Philippines and Japan itself.

The latest demonstration of America's growing power and Japan's weakness is shown in our heavy raids by bomber carriers on important Marcus and Wake Islands. Only two Japanese warplanes were seen, and both were destroyed.

Eugene Burns expects an early invasion of the Philippines, from which we can attack the Japanese in China and on their own islands. There's support for their view in General MacArthur's steady leapfrog advances along the New Guinea coast. Having captured strategic Wake Island the other day, he now shows signs of getting set for another hop to the Scouting Islands, 200 miles further northwest. Those afford air facilities—and the Philippines which the General has sworn to recapture are only 900 miles away.

Observers generally agree that the only impressive way Japan could dispute this progressive destruction of her outer defenses would be to bring her main fleet out for a showdown—something for which the American Navy is praying. However, the Nipponese are holding their home fleet in reserve to defend the Mikado's native land.

LOADING 100 CARS OF SOYS

Gwinn Elevators Preparing For New Crops

At the present time the Gwinn Elevators here are loading 100 car loads of soybeans which are being shipped daily to various processing plants, with about 60 car loads consigned to the plant at Circleville.

The big bins of the company have held large quantities of government beans since last fall, and the shipment will consist of about 150,000 bushels.

This will leave the plant free for intake of the coming wheat and soybean crops, and with shipping and storage facilities of other elevators in the community, and the huge storage capacity on the old fair grounds where bins were erected three years ago, the coming crops can be handled insofar as storage space is concerned without difficulty.

CANNING SUGAR SET-UP DIVIDED IN TWO PERIODS

Fuel Oil Re-application Forms To Be Mailed Out Next Week

Many families may not need more than 10 pounds of canning sugar per person during the entire year, but those who do will be able to get their second allotment after stating they used their first allotment for canning purposes, the ration board here said today.

Those who do not need their sugar during the first period may apply for their full 20 pounds during the second period, it was explained. Canning sugar periods in this district are: 10 pounds per family member up to July 29 and the same amount from August 1 to Feb. 28, 1945.

It is explained that the new canning sugar ruling does not mean a change in the total amount of canning sugar available to the housewife. It simply means the canning season has been divided into two sugar periods with a limit of ten pounds for each person in the family for the first period.

The principal reason behind this action is that although approximately the same amount of sugar is being allocated for home canning this year as last, the demand on the 1944 applications is already running much higher. Dividing the canning season into two periods will slow up the rate at which canning sugar is purchased and make it easier to keep enough sugar on hand to meet certificates and stamps throughout the season, rationing officials said. It will also provide a means of budgeting the canning sugar supply over the summer and fall so that those who need sugar to can late peaches as well as early strawberries will be able to get it.

That Spare Stamp

Incidentally, the ration board says, so many people have sent in sugar stamp 37 instead of "spare" stamp 37 with their applications for canning sugar that OPA has decided to invalidate sugar stamp 37. It will not be used for any purpose in the future. Spare stamp 37, one for each member of the family for whom canning sugar is requested, should be attached to the application for canning sugar—OPA form R 323. The ration board adds that when a second canning sugar application is made, no stamps need be attached. But it will be necessary to go to the same board for your second allotment, it is emphasized.

New Fuel Oil Rations

The ration board here, with others throughout the state, will start mailing out next season's fuel oil rationing application forms to all consumers next week, it was announced.

Present plans call for the board to start issuing the coupons before July 1, thus enabling householders to receive their first deliveries of fuel oil for next season during the summer.

However, the board can begin issuing the coupons early only if every consumer cooperates in mailing in his completed application within seven days after receiving it, it was said.

It is important for several reasons that householders fill their tanks in July, the ration board declared.

First, oil dealers will be in a better position to serve the consumer throughout the heating year if they can make their first deliveries early. This will help them solve their pressing manpower and trucking equipment problems by spreading out deliveries more evenly.

Second, by filling up consumers' tanks early, dealers will be able to re-fill their own tanks and thereby add appreciably to the total storage capacity of the rationed area for use later in the winter.

This year's form contains only six simple questions, it was pointed out, which can be filled out in a few minutes and sent back by return mail to the board here.

Rationing next season will con-

Marion School Craft Class Displays Year's Handiwork

For most of the year 25 boys and girls in the upper grades at Marion School worked to finish the display of craft work pictured above. Glass paintings, wall plaques, small shelves, book-ends with plastic molds, door stops, ash trays, dress pins, paper weights and decorated jars for use as vases are included in the display.

Fostered by Mrs. Olive Prosch, principal at Marion, most of the work was done during the noon lull after lunches were eaten and cleared away. Bad weather kept the youngsters indoors a good many days, Mrs. Prosch said, and the interest provided by the craft work kept them busy as well as developing creative talents and producing something each student would be proud to keep.

Although such a program is not required but is instead up to the principal's individual initiative, Superintendent of County Schools W. J. Hilty said: "Practically all schools could carry an activity of this kind—it would be worthwhile."

The display was arranged by Mary Lou Reif, Virginia Morris and Lucille Morris.

Destination of the handiwork was probably the living rooms of several dozen homes in and around Marion School.

With a Buckeye In Congress...

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress, 7th Ohio District

Late last week, after a hectic day of debate, the House of Representatives passed and sent to the Senate its version of the G. I. Bill for the benefit of war veterans and their dependents. While the House measure was, from a parliamentary angle, an amendment to the original Senate Bill on the same subject, it was in fact almost completely new legislation. The Senate has refused to accept the House amendments, which means a conference committee will be named to work out the differences between the House and Senate bills and agree upon a final compromise measure, which, in turn, must be approved by both the House and Senate, and later by the president, before actually becoming law.

Regardless of what the final draft of the G. I. Bill may contain, one thing does appear certain—that the American veterans of this war will receive greater benefits and better treatment from their government than ever before afforded the fighting men of any nation. Veterans will not only receive mustering-out pay upon discharge, but also will be entitled to rehabilitation, hospitalization and medical treatment at any time free of charge; unemployment compensation, if they are unable to find a job; the opportunity to continue their education, or to take a special training course, at the expense of the government; and the right to obtain loans for the purchase of homes, farms or businesses at low interest rates.

The House has also passed, by a heavy majority, a bill granting pensions to widows and dependents of World War No. 1 veterans whose deaths were non-service connected. Heretofore only the widows and dependent children of veterans whose deaths were actually the result of military service were eligible for such pensions. The proposed law, as passed by the House, which makes all widows and children entitled to the essential features successfully in operation during the winter just past. The 1944-45 program is based on the information OPA has received from the petroleum administrator for war that about as much, but no more, oil is expected to be available for civilian use. The few changes that were made, largely at the suggestions of members of the industry and OPA's field organization, will result in definite simplification of the program.

of World War No. 1 veterans eligible for benefits regardless of cause of the veteran's death, contains but one limitation: the requirement that the widow must have married the veteran prior to the date of financial enactment of the law. The Senate is expected to approve the bill before the June recess, but there is considerable concern in Congressional circles over the likelihood of a presidential veto. A few years ago an almost exactly similar bill passed the Congress by a heavy majority only to be vetoed by President Roosevelt, and he may follow the same course in connection with the present bill.

Many reports are reaching congressional offices telling of farmers being unable to dispose of their hogs because of livestock yards, packing plants and storage facilities being filled to overflowing. While the recent lifting of meat rationing is expected to eventually be of material help in solving the present surplus hog problem, it came too late to be of any worthwhile benefit to those livestock feeders already having fat hogs on hand. If meat rationing had been lifted several months ago, when members of congress from rural areas were first urging OPA to take such action, then the present situation would have been avoided and a more orderly marketing of hogs would have resulted under the old-fashioned, but not outmoded, law of supply and demand.

A similar serious situation is affecting poultrymen. While the War Food Administration has guaranteed a floor price of thirty cents a dozen for eggs, actually egg prices have been far below that figure for several weeks and in some sections of the country farmers have been receiving as low as fifteen to eighteen cents per dozen for their eggs. In a few localities they have been unable to market their eggs at any price. Yet in Washington, and other large cities, Grade A eggs are selling at anywhere from forty to forty-eight cents per dozen in the retail stores. War Food Administration officials have government buyers attempting to sustain the egg floor prices by making large purchases in areas where surpluses exist, but thus far their efforts have not brought the results expected.

The legislative processes on Capitol Hill are being speeded up by congressional leaders in an attempt to get all necessary measures enacted before June 20th, so

RADIO TECHNICIANS NEEDED BY NAVY

Men from 17 to 50 Are Eligible For Test

There is urgent need for radio technicians in the navy, Curtis I. Beede, recruiter in charge of the Chillicothe Recruiting Station who visits here each Wednesday afternoon, said today.

"All men between the ages of 17 and 50 are eligible to take a qualifying test, and if successful, will be rated as seaman first class and sent to a special Navy training school, where they will receive ten months of technical instruction. At four and six month intervals, examinations will be given and at completion of training, these men will be rated as petty officer second class and assigned to duty," Beede said.

Men who wish to take the first qualifying test should have an educational background including one year of high school algebra, general mathematics and general science, with some practical knowledge of shop practice, radio, and electricity. It is further pointed out that men who have received induction notices are not eligible to take this test until after they have passed through the pre-induction physical and been assigned to the Navy, he explained.

Interested applicants may receive complete and detailed information by calling personally, or by mailing inquiry to the Recruiter in Charge, U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Post Office, Chillicothe, Ohio. The phone number is 28-386, Beede said.

method of growing that has been used.

The plants that are selling for 80 cents a dozen are transplanted and in small pots, and some of them are about ready to bloom. While the price seems high, it is a good plan to buy a few of them, so that you will have early tomatoes. We have had them in June, from plants raised this way, for they were so well rooted, and so easy to set out, without disturbing many feed roots, that they made a very rapid growth. They will continue bearing through the year, too, if you have some variety like the Marglobe and take good care of them. I have the best success raising tomatoes in the garden by staking them and cultivating them often enough so that they have a dust mulch around them. I protect them during a drought by using a manure mulch around them, and they bear heavily, even if we have very little rain for several weeks.

Are Americans Still Americans?

What kind of country will our boys find when they come home? Will it be the type of land for which they fought, or something different—a left-wing, socialized, made-over America? They will return from winning a victory over fascism. Will they find a country well on the way to being conquered internally by communistic influence?

Fascism is our recognized enemy. Communism, however, is in a position to infiltrate our society. Russia being our ally, and a good one, the communists try to make us think it isn't good form to be suspicious of the "comrades" in our midst.

There are some people whose "humanitarianism" is so oozy as to look kindly upon communism. Some have even attempted to identify it with Christianity. But that, of course, is impossible, for communism is opposed to all forms of religion. Lenin said, "Religion must be abolished. The best country is a Godless country." Stalin once declared, "Keep children away from religious training until they are eighteen years of age, then they will be good communists." It is declared that Stalin has changed the communistic policy in regard to religion some since the present world war, but the original communistic attitude was not conducive to the spread of the influence of churches or of the Christian religion.

Christianity stands as a natural barrier against communism, for it emphasizes the worth and significance of the individual. Under communism a man loses his individuality in the State, which alone is sacred. Earl Browder says, "The individual finds his development and completion only as a part of society." Emerson saw clearly into the essence of Christian teaching when he pointed out that Jesus Christ was the first in all history to recognize the significance of human personality.

Communism, on the contrary, turns men into servants of the State. Democracy, the political child of religion, makes men masters of the State. The present tendency toward "big government" in whatever form it may appear, is fundamentally a denial of Christian philosophy. It is the natural result of the infiltration of both fascist and communistic thought. In a society strongly dominated by Christian thought, with its emphasis upon a man's essential greatness, there is always a suspicion of entrenched power.

Men in this great tradition sailed to these shores over stormy seas because, believing they were sons of God, they could not live under tyranny. They felt instinctively that they were rulers in their own right. Setting up their own country, they devised a severely limited government. They kept its control firmly in their own hands. They hedged the executive about with all manner of restrictions. They had seen one-man government, had suffered under it, and were determined to have none of it. But that was a long time ago, and it is easy to forget.

Now we, the descendants of these wise men, are faced, not by a king as they were, but by the threat of super government.

Today's Horoscope

A birthday today means you are a loyal and steadfast friend and hold your friendships. You are exacting, like your own way, and are very determined in your efforts to get it. Witty, sociable and an interesting conversationalist, you attract others to the home you love. Great good fortune comes your way this year. Those in authority will render valuable aid. Prefer requests, whether business or social. Push all your affairs to the utmost. Born today a child will gain in unique and often unexpected ways, success and outstanding happiness being prognosticated, but also some slight trouble through writings.

Sunday Horoscope

Today's birthday celebrant is ambitious. You are self-satisfied and determined, sometimes stubborn. You like social life, especially in a circle above your own, and can readily adapt yourself to it. Your home is very dear to you; you constantly make sacrifices and spare no expense to make it better and happier. Benefits from unexpected sources should be forthcoming in the next year, also happiness and all around prosperity. New friends, success in love and or marriage are presaged. Born on this date a child will be fortunate in speculative concerns, novel enterprises and marriage. A flair for entertaining, the drama and art generally is evidenced.

sight to see the subtle development of big government, and whether they still have the moral force to limit their government as their fathers did before them, is in many respects, the greatest question of this generation. If their religious faith is still strong they will have the manhood to remain free men. If communistic and fascist thought has breached their minds, the issue will be in doubt. Coming events will tell the story. As for us, we believe the American people are still American, and will return government to its proper place in our national life, as the servant and not the master of our citizens.

Production for Peace

The biggest problem in the post-war world will be the establishment of full employment. The outlook is good. Demands for steel will be forthcoming from American manufacturers on an unprecedented scale to meet the cry for more automobiles, refrigerators, household appliances stamped out by our mills in huge quantities. The rebuilding of stricken areas of the Old World and Russia, the development of China, the expansion of Latin America—all these tasks will prove to be of overwhelming magnitude, and may well lead to a new era of industrial progress in our land.

The job for America is to accumulate stock piles for peace equal to those previously piled up for war. Zinc, lead, metal scrap, wool, aluminum, cotton, lumber, oil, rubber are the basic commodities necessary for our industrial economy.

To acquire them in quantity must be our major concern for the peace-time era. Our government and our industrial leadership must see to it that this task is well performed if our responsibilities as the world's leading power are to be discharged properly.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Post-war planning is a popular Capitol pastime and many industries, states and communities are indulging in it, but it's rare indeed that any one will come forth with specific figures on which you can do some local crystal gazing of your own.

The Civil Aeronautics administration has provided such figures. Peering into the future, the CAA predicts that 1950 will see a half-million civilian planes in the air. CAA admits this is a rather arbitrary estimate, based in part on hunches (as well as a careful survey of trends and polls). However, Administrator Charles I. Stanton describes the conclusion as "highly conservative compared with most estimates."

When Stanton drew up his final figures, one of the determining factors was pre-war motorboats. It's a smaller hop from speedboats and fast cabin cruisers to the air than from the wheel of a stripped-down jeep. The spirit's the same, but the bank account generally isn't.

The estimated population of the country in 1950 will be somewhere around 150,000,000. That would mean one plane to every 300 persons. CAA considers this ultra-conservative.

The agency points out that there are 3,000,000 men now getting air training in the armed forces; 2,500,000 workers in aircraft production plants; 300,000 high school students each year (that alone means nearly 2,000,000 more by 1950) who are taking pre-flight courses; and nobody knows how many teenage youngsters who are building model aircraft and will be of flying age when the 20th Century turns the half-way mark.

In 1943, when civilian flying was virtually grounded, applications for civilian pilot licenses rolled into CAA at the rate of 8,000-a-month, and there has been no drop in 1944.

On this basis, CAA figures that every community of 1,000 or more will need to be readily accessible to an airport. But don't figure that a city of 500,000, for example, will need 500 airports. CAA reasons that since there are 6,600 towns in the United States of more than 1,000 population, there will be about 6,600 airports. That means an average of one flying field at least to every 23,000 persons but many towns of 23,000 or less will have two and some larger than that will have only one, depending on locality, "metropolitan area" and local flying conditions.

This, as CAA readily admits, is an effort at a conservative guess, but when you realize that 1950 is only six years away, it seems adequate reason for trotting out paper and pencil and doing a little post-war speculation.

Heart Palpitation Not a Serious Ill

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

PALPITATION of the heart is defined as consciousness of the heart's action. As such there are two elements involved—the heart and consciousness. Ordinarily the healthy person is sublimely unconscious of the heart's action. Indeed most people with organic heart disease go on for years unaware of it until it is turned up on a life insurance examination, or army examination.

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Emotional stress, or fear, sensitizes the consciousness so that the ordinary activities of the heart obtrude themselves upon it. Perhaps that accounts for the many letters I have been receiving on the subject—the war and all its emotion-upsetting powers being responsible.

Palpitation, or consciousness of heart action alone, never means any real heart disease or anything serious. But if one begins to worry it may go into permanent functional if not anatomical heart disease. Nothing illustrates this better than the condition known as soldier's heart. It has occurred in a quite definite proportion of troops in every war of which we have any record.

In the Civil War Dr. Da Costa called it soldier's heart; in World War I and this war it is called neuro-circulatory asthenia. Take an individual with a fundamentally unstable nervous system, thrust him into such a set of conditions as every drafted man has to endure, let some emotion or excitement make his heart beat so fast and so hard that he notices it, and then let him get to worrying about whether his heart is all right or not and before long you have a fully developed case of neuro-circulatory asthenia—with fast pulse up to 150 beats a minute, high blood pressure, nervousness, easy fatigue-ability and insomnia. There were 70,000 such cases in the English army alone in 1914-1918 and 44,000 had to be permanently pensioned.

Cases in U. S. Army
I saw many such cases in our own army in that same time and I always thought the thyroid gland had been activated by emotion and made the heart beat fast. We know one of the symptoms of thyroid gland intoxication is fast pulse and this is easily felt by the patient and is one of the causes of palpitation.

Very common in middle aged and elderly people is consciousness of the heart's action from a dropped beat of the heart. This is known as an extrasystole. It is a disorder of the property of irritability of the heart muscle. Every once in a while or sometimes regularly every three or five beats the heart throws in an extra beat ahead of time, and then in order to compensate for its extra work it makes a longer pause than usual. It is the long pause that is felt by consciousness.

Not Serious Condition

Nearly everyone who experiences it for the first time thinks it is the end of all and very serious. Doctors used to think so themselves until Dr. James Mackenzie reported a number of people whom he had watched with these extrasystoles for from twenty to twenty-five years and found them still in the best of health and free from heart trouble. Tobacco, because it works on the property of irritability of the heart will bring on this form of irregularity and it goes away just as rapidly as it came on if the tobacco is given up for a while.

But worrying about one's heart just because you happen to feel it beating some time is a bad practice and leads to real disability. Remember the centipede got along all right until someone asked him which leg came after which when he walked and he got to putting his mind on that and that mixed him up so that he became a helpless cripple.

STAY OF EXECUTION FOR YOUNG KILLER

Convicted of Murder of Twins In Cleveland

COLUMBUS, May 27.—(AP)—The Supreme court today stayed indefinitely the execution of Henry Hager, 18-year-old Cleveland youth condemned to die June 9 for the slaying of twin brothers in Cuyahoga County last June.

The stay was granted after Hager appealed for a review of his case. No briefs accompanied the motion.

The brothers, James and Charles Collins, 13, were spirited to Metropolitan Park west of Cleveland and shot to death and left in heavy brush.

Hager, arrested a day after the bodies were found, admitted the killings and declared "I'll probably get 10 years."

A jury that convicted him disregarded a defense contention the youth was insane. The twins were slain shortly after Hager was released from a sanitarium.

"CALAMITY TOWN" by ELLERY QUEEN

©1943 LITTLE BROWN & CO. DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE

SYNOPSIS

Incognito as "Ellery Smith," Mr. Queen is visiting war industrial Wrightsville to write another novel. He leased a house from John E. Wright, a banker, which had been designed by the latter and his wife, Hermione, as a honeymoon home for their eldest daughter, Nora. Her fiancé, James Haight, had disappeared on the eve of the wedding. Her sister, Lola, lives apart from the family; she had eloped and returned divorced. The youngest Miss Wright, Patricia, is "go with" the county prosecutor, Carter Bradford. Author "Smith" is in the process of being made a literary lion by Mrs. "Hermione" Wright. Ellery likes his new quarters, though local gossip calls it "Calamity House." One day, "Pat" tells Ellery that "Jim Haight's back!" and that Nora has refused to see him. Haight's return becomes the talk of the town. Lawyer Bradford, incensed by "Pat's" attention to Author "Smith," makes a scene during a bridge party in the Wright home, but this was topped when Nora's stifled cry calls attention to "Jim" Haight in the archway. Then she runs upstairs, "Jim" followed, and they returned soon to announce they will be married shortly. At the wedding, Ellery saw Frank Lloyd, Nora's former suitor, skulking behind a weeping willow. While the honeymooners were away, Ellery moved to the Wright home next door.

CHAPTER NINE

Nora and Jim stepped off the train the color of Hawaiians. Jim grinned at his father-in-law. "What! Such a small reception committee?"

"Town's thinking about other things these days, Jim," said John F. "Draft registration tomorrow."

They crowded into the big family limousine and started for home.

"Nora baby, you look wonderful!" declared Hermie.

Nora did. "I've put on ten pounds," she laughed.

"How's married life?" queried Carter Bradford.

"Why not get married and find out for yourself, Cart?" countered Nora.

"What chance has a man got," groaned Carter, "with that smooth-talking author in the house?"

"Unfair competition," cut in Jim. "In the house!" exclaimed Nora. "Mother, you never wrote me!"

"It was the least we could do," explained Hermie, "seeing how sweet he was about giving up his lease."

"Nice fella," said John F. "Bring back any stamps?"

But Pat urged impatiently: "Nora, shake off these men and let's you and I go somewhere and . . . talk."

"Wait till you see what Jim and I brought—" Nora's eyes grew big as the family limousine stopped in the Wright driveway. "Jim, look!"

"Surprise!"

The little house by the big one glistened in the October sunshine. It had been repainted: the fresh white of the clapboard walls, the turkey-red of the shutters and "trim," the Christmas green of the newly relandscaped grounds made it look like a delectable gift package.

"And just wait, children," beamed Hermie, "till you see the inside."

"Absolutely spick and utterly span," chirped Pat. "Ready to receive the lovebirds. Nora, you're blubbing!"

"It's so beautiful," wept Nora, hugging her father and mother. And she dragged her husband off to explore the interior of the house that had lain empty, except for Mr. Queen's short tenure, for three frightened years.

Mr. Queen had packed an overnight bag the day before the newlyweds' return and had taken the noon train. Pat said it showed he had "a fine character." Whatever his reason, Ellery returned the day after draft registration, to find bustle and laughter in the little house next door, and no sign whatever that it had been known as Calamity House.

"We do want to thank you for giving up the house, Mr. Smith," said Nora.

"That hundred-watt look is my reward."

"Flatterer!" retorted Nora, and tugged at her starched little apron. "I look a sight—"

"For ailing eyes. Where's the happy bridegroom?"

"Jim's down at the railroad station picking his things up. Before placed at his disposal. Hermie, Pat, and Lola could hear his portable clacking away until immemorial hours. He saw little of Jim and Nora, but they seemed happy.

At the bank Jim had found waiting for him a private office with a new oak desk and a bronze plaque, proclaiming: MR. HAIGHT V. PRES. Old customers dropped in to wish him luck and ask about Nora. The little house was popular, too. The ladies of the Hill called and called, and Nora gave them tea and smiles. Hermie was proud of her married daughter.

So Mr. Queen decided that Calamity House was buried beyond resurrection. He began to make plans to invent a crime in his novel, since life was so uncooperative.

October 29 came and went, and with it the published figures of the Federal draft lottery: Jim Haight he came back from his apartment in New York he'd packed his books and clothes and things and shipped them to Wrightsville, care of General Delivery, and they've been held in the baggage room ever since. Here he is! Jim, did you get everything?"

Jim Haight grinned at his father-in-law. "Such a small reception committee?"

Jim waved from Ed Hotchkiss's cab, which was heaped with suitcases, nailed boxes, and a wardrobe trunk. Ed and Jim carried them into the house.

Ellery remarked how fit Jim looked, and Jim with a friendly handclasp thanked him for "being so decent about moving out." Nora wanted Mr. "Smith" to stay for lunch. But Ellery said he'd take advantage of that invitation when Nora and Jim weren't so busy getting settled; and he left.

The last thing "the famous author" saw was Jim and Nora in each other's arms.

Mr. Queen grinned. If the bride's house hid a calamity within its walls, it was hidden superlatively well.

Ellery attacked his novel with energy. Except for mealtimes, he remained in his quarters on the top floor, the whole of which Hermie had and Carter Bradford drew high order numbers; Mr. Queen was observed to drop in at the Hollis Hotel early on the morning of the thirtieth for a New York newspaper, upon reading which he was seen by Mark Doodle's son Grover to shrug and toss the paper away.

Hallowe'en was mad. People on the Hill answered mysterious doorbells all day. Menacing signs in colored chalk appeared on pavements. As evening came on, costumed gnomes began to flit about town, their faces painted and their arms flapping. And many of them went to bed with tingling bottoms.

Mr. Queen strolled about the neighborhood before dinner wishing he were young again so that he, too, might enjoy Hallowe'en. On his way back to the Wright house, he noticed that the Haight place next door was lit up; and on impulse he went up the walk and rang his ex-doorbell. But it was Pat, not Nora, who answered the door.

"Thought you'd run out on me," said Pat. "We never see you any more." Then she announced, "It's the famous author, Nora!"

New Front Opened in War Against Cancer

By SCHUYLER ALLMAN

For many who had read their death warrant in the dreaded diagnosis, "advanced cancer" this sentence blazed as a beacon of hope in 1941:

"The improvement was greater than we have observed in any case in which far advanced . . . cancer was treated in any other way."

It was Dr. Charles Huggins of the University of Chicago and associates Dr. R. E. Stevens, Jr., and Dr. Clarence Hodges, reporting on castration as a treatment of cancer of the prostate gland.

They performed the operation on 21 men in advanced stages of this disease and noted 15 were remarkably improved. Pain ceased, weight picked up, red blood cells multiplied. Only four patients died.

Then the overgrown gland shrank. In 15 the cancer had spread to pelvis or spine and in some cases this too was arrested.

But their conclusion was electrifying news and served to confirm recent theories that the unbalanced state of sex hormones has something to do with forming cancer cells.

Confirms An Old Theory

It proved that Dr. J. W. White was on the right track in 1895 when, performing 111 operations and reporting relief in 96, he proposed castration to relieve painful overgrowth of the prostate. In 1931 a German, Dr. Adolf Butenandt, isolated the male sex hormone and called it androsterone.

Two years later it was made synthetically. A lot of people thought the fountain of youth had been found at last and crowded around for a drink.

Two Male Hormones Found

There were remarkable claims of rejuvenation, but patients with enlarged prostate often grew worse after taking the synthetic.

Two Cleveland clinicians soon solved that one. They reported there were two male hormones, one acting on the pituitary gland to keep it for over-stimulating the prostate.

The other, a dead ringer for androsterone, actually stimulated growth of the gland!

The United States government released a synthetic substitute for the female hormone in 1941 which has been used successfully in the overgrowth of the prostate.

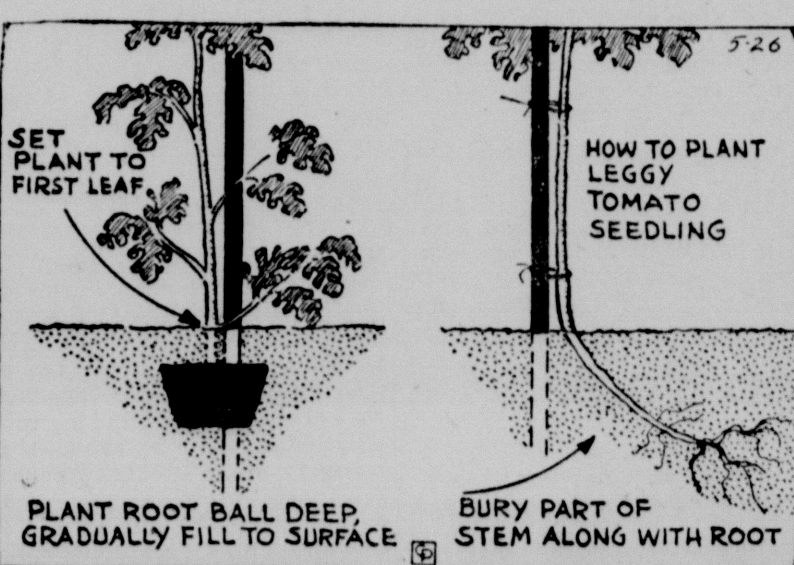

Conversely, the synthetic male hormone has had a beneficial effect on cancer of the breast in women.

There are no "cures" in sight, but at last research seems to be breathing hot on the neck of this formidable man-killer.

Joan Crouse Is Hostess at Party For Graduates

Miss Joan Crouse entertained a number of graduating friends at a theater party, as part of the commencement week activities and her guests assembled at the Fayette Theater for the movie, "Buffalo Bill."

After the show, the hostess took her guests to the home of her parents on Grand Avenue, where cooling and seasonal refreshments were dispensed from prettily-appointed tables. Centering each small table where the guests were seated were water-gardens of roses.

Informal visiting and the viewing of the commencement gifts Miss Crouse has received was enjoyed until a late hour.

Those present for a most delightful evening were Misses Nancy Lee James, Helen Adams, Helen Minshall, Bobby Lou Spears, Carol McCoy, Virginia Craig, Marie Marchant, Evelyn Long, Frannie McDonald, Katie Morrow, Susie Williams, Mary Sexton, Judith Paul, Martha Hughes, Martha Varlas, Gloria June Hoppes, Virginia Ann Bidwell, Barbara Parker, Mildred Daulton, Virginia Hodge, Jean McCoy and Miss Amelia Pensyl.

Mrs. E. R. Hunt Includes Guests At Bridge Club

When Mrs. E. R. Hunt entertained her two-table dessert-bridge club, Friday afternoon at her home on Rawlings Street, three out-of-town guests were included with the members for a most enjoyable afternoon.

The members and guests were seated at small tables in the dining room for the seasonal dessert serving, and centering each table were crystal watergarden arrangements of roses, from the Hunt gardens, which were greatly admired.

During the afternoon of bridge which followed, Mrs. Ormand Dewey, Mrs. C. D. Young and Mrs. Gregg were awarded the prizes.

Guests included with the members were Miss Lillie Henkle of Lima, Mrs. Rollo Johnson of Hastings, Nebraska, and Mrs. John Gregg, of Washington D. C.

To freshen stale or wilted vegetables, soak them for an hour in cold water to which the juice of a lemon has been added.

COMING FEATURES AT THE THEATERS

A French criminal, and the Surete Inspector who holds him prisoner, pit their combined wits against their common Nazi enemy in "Uncertain Glory," and stars Errol Flynn, Paul Lukas, Lucile Watson, Jean Sullivan and Faye Emerson at the Fayette Theater Sunday and Monday. Flynn plays the role of Jean Picard, an unregenerate criminal who almost loses his only chance to redeem himself as a human being. Lukas has the role of Inspector Bonet of the French Surete, the pursuer who at last bags his quarry only to admit to an empty victory. Lovely Jean Sullivan is seen in the role of Marianne, an innocent little peasant girl who falls in love with Picard and shows him the way to certain glory.

The valiant contribution of those Frenchmen who fight—fascism and the story of a small group of men who risked their lives to join that fight is the exciting background of "Passage to Marseille" which will be shown at the Fayette Theater Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Starring Humphrey Bogart as Matrae, an anti-Nazi who has been banished to Devil's Island on trumped-up charges, the picture tells of his daring escape from the island with four other convicts and the peril they encounter in their attempt to get back to France. The convicts are portrayed by Peter Lorre, Helmut Dantine, Philip Dorn and George Tobias. Featured in the film are Claude Rains, Sydney Greenstreet, and Michele Morgan.

Friday and Saturday "Tunisian Victory" which will be shown at the Fayette Theater on these days is the first official film record of the Anglo-American campaign in Africa. It is also the first time the governments of the United idea of indulging in alcoholic beverages and the use of narcotics, as being detrimental to the health.

Miss Hynes appeared next on the program and played as a piano solo "German Dance."

Mrs. Lena Christopher then gave as her topic, "No Thank You," which told of the prominent officer in the army who refused a case of whiskey as reward for his bravery and success while in actual combat, during World War II.

Miss Cordelia McCafferty said during her topic which was heard next—"What Is Not Good For You, Let It Alone." She said that total abstinence is the only safeguard. Know the rules of health and obey them.

Miss Helen Louise Hynes closed the program with the piano number "Poem."

States and Great Britain have jointly produced a motion picture. Photographed at the front by 300 British and American technicians in twelve units scattered over a 2,000 mile battlefield, its technicians played dual roles of cameramen and soldiers. Four were killed in the line of duty, many more wounded and a number received decorations for bravery. This is the story of the North African campaign.

A mythical South Seas paradise provides an exotic background for the exciting new screen adventure, "Cobra Woman" starring the popular trio Maria Montez, Jon Hall and Sabu. Action of the picturesque drama centers around the romantic affairs of a glamorous princess and her twin sister, Miss Montez is seen in both portrayals. Hall is seen as a valiant islander who helps to stage a rebellion against a cruel monarch and her unscrupulous Minister of Affairs. Lurid sacrificial rites and intrigue among the court followers are dramatic preludes to the conspiracy in which the twin sister of the princess is restored to the throne. Also to be shown will be the Three Stooges in "I Can Hardly Wait."

Wednesday and Thursday, "Louisiana Purchase" starring Bob Hope, Vera Zorina and Victor Moore, this technicolor production will be shown on the two days mentioned above at the State Theater as part of a double bill. Second feature to be shown will be "Two Men Under the Sea," starring Tom Neal and Ann Savage. A timely and exciting new melodrama it is concerned with the treacherous attempts of the Nips and Nazis to wrest a penicillin formula from the hands of American researchers in the South Pacific. Neal and Miss Savage play the courageous scientists, who are aided by J. Carroll Naish in the role of a delirious doctor. Supporting players include Robert Williams, Abner Biberman and Geo. Lynn.

Friday and Saturday Russell Hayden will be seen in "Wyoming Hurricane" at the State Theater, plus the first chapter of the new serial entitled "The Adventures of the Flying Cadets." Also a color cartoon.

To use up odds and ends of soap, let them dry out thoroughly and then put through a food chopper to make powder that can be used in the dishpan or washer.

POET'S CORNER

The following poem is written by Mrs. Wayne Vannorsdall, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. R. Rector of Jeffersonville. She is now in Phoebus, Va., with her husband.

I PRAYED

I prayed to my Heavenly Father,
He heard the words I said.
He gave me strength and guidance
And I followed the way He led.

The Road for me was a hard one;
I stumbled along the way.
But when I felt I could go no farther,
I knelt for a while to pray.

It was easy to talk with my Father,
For I had done it often before.
He gave me the courage I needed,
And strengthened me more and more.

The burden I carried was lifted,
As I walked along life's road,
For Christ was walking beside me,
Helping to carry my load.

Though my duties for Christ are just starting,
And the burdens will be many,
I know,
My prayers to the Heavenly Father
Will guide me as I go.

But when my task on earth is all finished,
And for Jesus I've given my all,
I'll look forward to seeing my Master
As I wait for His glorious call.

WINDOWS OF PALACE SHATTERED BY BOMB

LONDON, May 27—(P)—Many windows in St. James Palace, including those of stained glass, and the great mullioned windows of the royal chapel, were blown to pieces in an air raid some time ago that also destroyed art treasures in nearby shops, it was announced today.

St. James Palace, the former London residence of British sovereigns, now is used for royal receptions.

The palace narrowly escaped serious damage when a bomb fell at the west end of Pall Mall. The clock on the north side of the tower was destroyed, and the queen's chapel and the princess royal's private flat suffered damage.

Another Big Day of Golf in Prospect

Another blind bogey tourney, the second in a row since the lid was officially lifted from the Country Club golfing season last week, has been arranged for Sunday, the club pro, Tony Capuana, announced as plans were completed late Friday.

Sunday also is to mark the formal opening of the club house. As for the second blind bogey tourney, Capuana said there would be prizes for all events.

And as for the golf course, he declared with a note of considerable pride and satisfaction that "it is one of the best dressed courses you will see anywhere." Then he gave a description of the colorful layout: "The benches are all bright orange; the flags are yellow with black numbers; the markers are white; the 'replace' sign is blue and white; the steel chairs are red, green and yellow and a big American flag waves from the tall pole on the front lawn." He added these words of explanation of the decorative scheme: "So many courses look dull, but we believe in plenty of life and color for our beautiful club. The club house speaks for itself so far as beauty is concerned."

The turnout for the golf opening last Sunday dissipated any doubts about lagging interest in golf and, given good weather, the second Sunday gathering is expected to be, as the pro put it, "a record-breaker."

Giants Beaten, 4-3, by Reds After 3 Games Postponed

By JACK HAND
(By The Associated Press)

Banjo-strumming "Cholly" Grimm can't take any miracle man bows yet but he has those Chicago Cubs knocking today on the exit door from the National League cellar.

Since the man who made Milwaukee pennant conscious returned to the big show three weeks ago, the Bruisers have been keeping their noses above water, winning nine of 17 and boasting a fancy six-game victory string.

An eight out of 10 pace since the second game of a May 14 doubleheader left them today only a game and a half behind Brooklyn with a chance to quit the cellar over the week end.

Paul Derringer's rejuvenation continued with the Cubs' success as he traveled the route for the third time in six starts to stop the Phils 9-1.

St. Louis came from behind to down Brooklyn, 5-3, in the delayed opening of their eastern invasion.

Woody Williams' single scoring pinch runner Dain Clay from second helped Cincinnati to a 4-3 nod in 10 night innings over New York. Two of the three games scheduled against the Giants were postponed because of damp weather but the clubs got together last night before 8,366 fans and the Reds came out on top to give Bucky Walters his seventh win against two losses this season although it took ten innings to do it.

Max Marshall accounted for three of the Cincinnati runs with a double and a homerun.

Pinch hitter Frank Colman's home run with two on in the eighth enabled Pittsburgh to bounce Boston, 7-5.

The New York Yankees opened their tour on Ernie Bonham's sixth shutout job against Chicago, 4-0, under the arcs. St. Louis bowed to Boston, 4-2, in an 11-inning "howl" game.

Bobo Newsom had to get ninth inning help from Joe Berry in shading Detroit 3-2 with Frankie Hayes driving in two runs and scoring the other for Philadelphia. George Case's single in the 13th scored Rick Ferrell and Johnny Sullivan with Washington's decisive counters in a 5-3 verdict over Cleveland.

Whither Are We, Etc?
Wonder if eventually all the big-time coaches will operate like Slip Madigan used to, when he'd dig up a team and a schedule for St. Mary's, share in the profits and run a sooper-dooper fans' tour to one of the games?

Shorts And Shells
Glenn Cunningham still is running as a member of the Great Lakes mile relay quartet—and with no expense accounts—Alta, Utah, where the snow still is so deep skiing likely will continue until late June, is where the infamous "Bucket of Blood" saloon was located. In those days, they never buried the casualties in Alta in winter, just stacked 'em up until the spring thaw. An amateur's idea of skiing is that the place probably hasn't changed much.

Schedules Made For Big Ten -- But Chicago Missing

CHICAGO, May 27—(P)—Big Ten conference basketball teams—with Chicago excluded—arranged their 1945 schedules yesterday, booking an even dozen games for each school.

The coaches selected six opponents for competition for the home-and-home schedule but dates were to be assigned later.

The schedule making ended a two-day meeting at which acrimonious discussion was reported over charges by representatives of Ohio State and Illinois that Purdue coach Ward Lambert had taught his players rough tactics.

Meanwhile, the faculty committee voted to continue the league's wartime plan which permits competition for undergraduate athletes although they may have finished their three year pre-war eligibility limit. Each school was permitted to act upon this eligibility policy.

Baksi Whips Lee Savold

By FRITZ HOWELL

NEW YORK, May 27.—(P)—You can call him "Jolting Joe" now—this big Baksi boy from the coal mines of Kulpmont, Pa.

The rugged 212-pound scrapper jolted Lee Savold, the blonde Adonis from Paterson, N. J., all over Madison Square Garden's ring last night for 12 rounds, to win by a country mile over the veteran who only two months ago shaded him in a 10-rounder.

In the first fight 198-pound Savold's rapier-like left was the deciding factor. But last night, before 11,362 fans who paid $46,263 for the privilege, Baksi beat his lighter and faster foe to the punch and battered his eyes, mouth, nose and midsection unmercifully.

In the six-round semi-final, a slow affair, Freddie Schott of Akron ran his pro victory string to 19 by punching out a decision over Walter Hafer of Dayton. Schott weighed 207 1/2 and Hafer 209.

opinion that the term "invasion" is not as fitting as it might be. He suggested "liberation." This term, he said, involves more than the mere military operations and includes post-war planning.

Monetary Confab
Congressional leaders are making a bid for representation on the American delegation to a United Nations monetary conference called by President Roosevelt.

The deliberations are designed to outline a postwar fiscal policy. Senator Wagner (D-NY) says he believes legislators should attend the meetings since Mr. Roosevelt has said that any agreements reached will be submitted to the respective governments for ratification.

FEPC Challenged

Southern senators were ready today to assail Mr. Roosevelt's Fair Employment Practices Committee, which was saved from abolition by a four vote margin in the House yesterday.

Around the Town

When Lt. Gen. Brheon Somervell complained there had been too much "moaning" at the 30 percent night club tax, he got a quick argument from some congressmen whose constituents have been taxed out of jobs. Both houses of Congress are in recess until Monday.

Brews on Top Of AA Again

(By The Associated Press)

After a one-day deadlock with Columbus, the Milwaukee Brewers again were in undisputed possession of first place in the American Association today, though by a single game margin which could be erased tonight.

The tie was broken last night when Milwaukee whipped Louisville 7 to 3 and Minneapolis walloped Columbus 18 to 6.

Seventeen-year-old Don Johnson of Kansas City held Indianapolis to a pair of safeties after the third inning to gain his second victory, 4-2, and shove the Indians back into last place.

Toledo made it two out of three against St. Paul as Bill Seisoth achieved his third pitching victory, 6-3.

indicate they will seek a full public hearing on the case.

Finally, that the Republican party intends to make the case a campaign issue was indicated by the announcement of Senator Moore (R-Okla.) that he will fire an "opening gun" for the GOP national committee in a radio address on the mail order seizure tonight (10:45 P. M. Eastern War Time, Columbia Network).

The senate report was filed by a senate judiciary subcommittee but the full committee still has not committed itself. It has agreed to meet June 19 to determine "what future action will be taken."

OHIO MILK DISTRIBUTION PLAN GIVEN CREDIT FOR ABSENCE OF RATIONING

That record is due in a large part, he said, to activities of the Emergency Intermarket Milk Supply committee. This is how it works:

A milk dealer usually arranges to purchase a farmer's entire milk output, thereby assuring himself an adequate supply during the slack milk season. Consequently, the flush season oversupply becomes a problem with which the dealer, rather than the farmer, must cope.

Dealer "A" with tons of surplus milk calls the committee's office here. The committee consults a huge map of Ohio on which are marked the state's dairy plants, and spots dealer "B" whose facilities are known to be adequate.

Dealer "B" is phoned, urged to take on the surplus despite his already overburdened plant, and before the conversation is minutes old the precious fluid is speeding toward his plant in insulated, glass-lined tank trucks which are, in effect, huge thermos bottles to keep the milk cool and fresh.

The committee's efforts have proven so successful in conserving the food termed by authorities "the mainstay of the diet" that other states now seek to set up systems patterned after Ohio's.

ALLIES CHASING NAZIS TOWARD ROME WHILE EUROPE BLASTED AGAIN

London observers said Allied formations including hundreds of Flying Fortresses and Liberators crossed the channel for three hours during the morning.

The size of the armada streaming out during the morning suggested strong attacks were under way as a follow up to night attacks on Ludwigshafen and the Rothe Erde railway yards at Aachen by RAF Mosquitos.

Even before sirens warned the homeland that Allied fighter-bomber formations were approaching southwestern Germany and that fighters were moving in on western Germany.

Only Two Planes Lost
Two RAF planes failed to return from the night operations, which included mine laying in enemy waters as well as the attack on two German cities.

The Mosquitos, in the 12th night excursion this month, struck at Ludwigshafen in southwest-

HEAVY RAINFALL SWEEPS LOWER PART OF COUNTY

Fields Inundated, Streams Flooded and Plant in Greenfield Closed

Enormous rainfall was recorded over a large portion of southern Fayette County and northern Highland County, early Friday afternoon, with the result that hundreds of acres of farm lands became lakes and streams were sent on a rampage, while farm work was halted for several days.

Considerable wind and light-rain accompanied the rain, and total precipitation within a comparatively short time was placed at two inches or more. Additional rain fell later in the day, adding to the flooded conditions generally.

Much corn just planted was inundated, and wheat fields were not only partially submerged in water, but the violent wind laid some of the wheat flat.

The storm swept across the entire county, and into Ross County, leaving miniature lakes in every low section of farm lands, and causing extensive damage.

In some places the rain reached almost cloudburst proportions, and as a result drainage systems were choked. In many places water poured over highways, some places 8 inches in depth.

At Greenfield, the plant of the American Pad and Textile Co. was forced to close down by reason of flooded basement, the first time in 27 years.

ern Germany for the fourth time in May, and at Aachen ripped up one of the two railroad yards severely mauled by RAF heavy bombers in night attacks Wednesday. Aachen is near the junction of the Netherlands, Belgium and German borders.

Paris radio announced today that Ostende, on the coast of Belgium, was bombed yesterday. There was no Allied confirmation.

While weather halted heavy aerial offensive operations from Britain yesterday, medium bombers and fighter bombers conducted sweeps over France.

Battle for Italy

Nazis sent 30 planes over the battle area in Italy of which three were shot down. The Mediterranean air force flew over 2,900 sorties, including a flight of 500 to 750 Fortresses and Liberators that bombed rail facilities in southeastern France, over which the Germans were sending reinforcements and armor toward the Italian front.

Seven heavy bombers and 16 other planes were missing from the day's operations, which continued through the night, with RAF Liberators and Wellingtons bombing highways north of Rome.

Two Allied warships bombarded enemy targets north of the Anzio beachhead yesterday, and an Allied communiqué reported effective results.

Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's reconnaissance troops in the Ardent area, pacing the drive from the beachhead, had advanced about 12 and a half miles north of the former beachhead perimeter after the Allies beat back sharp enemy counter-attacks, in which 15 huge Tiger tanks participated.

An official report said the enemy appeared to be pulling back heavy artillery from the Cisterna-Valmontone road.

Surging up the Liri Valley, the Eighth Army defeated the Germans in a furious tank battle west of the Melfa River, knocking out 12 tanks.

Then Canadian and British forces pushed to within two miles of Arce, near the confluence of the Liri and Sacco rivers, and to within two or three miles of Ceprano, important road junction on the Cassino-Rome highway.

These vital road junctions control communications at the head of the Liri valley where Highway Six (the Via Cassina) begins its long, straight stretch through a wide valley to Rome.

Desperate Nazis threw in reinforcements at several danger points, and used more armor and mobile forces against the Eighth Army's Liri valley thrust than at any previous time in the Italian campaign.

But these reinforcements were beaten back and the Allies captured both San Giovanni and Pastena, both heavily-defended strong points.

ALLIED EQUIPMENT HAS INVASION STAR

Gen. Eisenhower at Palace for Audience With King

SUPREME ALLIED HEAD-QUARTERS, England, May 27—(P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returned today from an inspection of British ground forces of his supreme invasion command and announced he was highly pleased with the thoroughness of their training.

Soon afterwards, he had an audience with King George VI in Buckingham Palace.

It was disclosed in London that Allied vehicles from tanks to jeeps have been marked for the invasion with a white star, which has been the symbol of the American fighting forces on land and in the air. It is understood this will not be extended to air units—that is, the RAF still will be using its red, white and blue target as an insignia.

The use of the American white star for all forces follows a precedent set in North Africa and Italy.

AMERICA FIRST PARTY MAY HAVE CANDIDATE

PHILADELPHIA, May 27.—(AP)—Gerald L. K. Smith, national director of the America first party, says he will run for president on his party's ticket "if Mr. Dewey becomes the (Republican) nominee and does nothing to correct the blunders he has made in dealing with the nationalists."

97 Get Diplomas At 68th Annual Commencement

FIVE GRADUATES ABSENT FRIDAY AT EXERCISES

Dean E. J. Ashbaugh of Miami University Is Graduation Speaker

Ninety-seven boys and girls today are alumni of Washington C. H. High School. They received their blue covered diplomas amid traditional pomp and ceremony in the high school auditorium Friday night in the 68th annual commencement.

There are five other alumni too—alumni who weren't in the auditorium to receive their diplomas in person. Gordon E. Davis had left for Detroit only Friday morning to take a physical examination for the Naval Air Corps. Edward DeHeart, Earl Rohde and Donald Melvin are already in the service. The single girl who was not present was Jane Mark, who is at home recovering from injuries received in an automobile accident.

Dr. E. J. Ashbaugh, dean of the school of education at Miami University, departed from the usual type commencement address to give the class some points on how to choose a profession.

"The time of decision is important now because we are going through a revolution," he told the class. Two guideposts to use in choosing a career are these, Ashbaugh said—"For what am I best fitted?" and "Is it worth doing?"

Dr. Ashbaugh cautioned the graduates to analyze themselves and their objectives before making a decision. "Ask yourself what kind of a physical being you are, what kind of a mind you have, what kind of a social person you are, how persistent you are and how responsible you are. Analyze your job like this: Is it worth while? What measure of worth lies in its contribution to human betterment?"

Superintendent A. B. Murray presented the class to the board of education seated on the stage before Ray Brandenburg, board president, began to distribute the diplomas to the blue-gowned boys and white-gowned girls. Before Brandenburg gave the first diploma to Karl Harper, class president, he said: "Don't get the idea that America is a dead end street as far as opportunities are concerned—there are plenty of them left."

Only once did Brandenburg step from his place in presenting the diplomas—that was to give way to Robert H. Craig, board vice-president, when his daughter, Virginia Craig, crossed the stage.

Principal Walter E. Rettig presented special awards to a dozen of the class. Nancy Lee James received a Gregg writer certificate for a 42 word typing speed. Barbara Parker and Helen Adams received similar awards for a 39 minute speed.

Virginia Craig was awarded a special certificate for perfect attendance and no tardiness during her four years of high school. She received as well a typing certificate for 37 words per minute.

Frederick "Bud" Carlson was given an award for a straight "A" average throughout high school and a certificate denoting first place in the county in the senior scholarship tests. Karl Harper received a certificate for rating third in the county on the same test.

Marie Marchant was awarded a typing certificate for 37 words a minute. Mary Moorehead and Virginia Hodge received certificates for attaining a 120 word per minute speed in shorthand. Carolyn Gerhardt, Myrtle Bailey and Evelyn Long were awarded similar certificates for a 100 word speed.

Special musical numbers were introduced by Paul Fitzwater, WHS music instructor. Miss Bertha Webb, soprano, sang "The Time for Making Songs" and Miss Marjorie Mellenbruch, cellist, played "Pettie Ballade". Both soloists are seniors in the music education department of Miami University. Miss Mary Lou Bollinger was accompanist.

BOY IS KILLED BY LIGHTNING WHILE AT PLAY

Richard Fawcett, 12, Victim Of Bolt At His Home Near Sabina

Seeking shelter beneath a tree at his home on the Plymouth road, five miles north of Sabina, Richard Fawcett, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fawcett, was instantly killed by lightning during a heavy thunderstorm Friday afternoon.

The boy and his sister, Betty Lou, 14, were playing in the yard at their home when the storm started. Betty Lou was playing with him at the time but had not reached the trunk of the tree when the bolt struck.

The bolt struck Richard on the right side of his head, passed through his body and emerged through his right hand and right foot, it is reported. His sister was knocked down by the lightning but suffered no injuries except shock.

Richard was a member of the Sabina Boy Scouts and had just completed his sixth year in the Sabina public schools.

His father took his son in his car and hurried to a physician's office in Sabina, but the physician pronounced the child dead, saying death must have been almost instantaneous.

In addition to his parents, Richard is survived by his sister, Betty, at home, and another sister, Mrs. Margine Davidson, of Leesburg.

The family has many relatives and friends in Fayette County as well as in the Sabina community.

Funeral services will be at the Littleton Funeral Home in Sabina Monday at 2 P.M. Rev. E. J. Meacham, pastor of the Sabina Church of Christ, will be in charge.

Friends may call at the residence until noon Monday. Burial will be in the Sabina cemetery.

MRS. MARY GOFF IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Funeral Services Will Be Held Monday Afternoon

Mrs. Mary Goff, 91, colored, was found dead Saturday morning at her home 423 Second St. It is reported she had been dead since early Friday evening. She is survived by one son, Walter of Washington C. H. and a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Easton, also of Washington C. H. Mrs. Goff was a member of the Second Baptist Church here. Her husband, James Goff, died 24 years ago.

Funeral services will be Monday at 2:30 P.M. at the Klever Funeral Home. Burial will be in the Washington C. H. cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home at anytime.

Evelyn Maxine Long, Helen Kyle Adams, David Dean Ellis and Vera Jean Waugh. These students have an average of B or above for their four years of high school.

PRICE CONTROL CHECK TO START HERE NEXT WEEK

New Meat Price Lists Ready At Ration Board -- Use by Buyers Suggested

Although willful or premeditated violations of ceiling prices have not been the cause of any undue concern here, plans today were virtually complete for a tightening of price control regulations, it was revealed at the office of the county War Price and Rationing Board.

The moves made along this line here, it was explained, are in line with a nationwide campaign to set up the price control program.

The plan calls for the start of the campaign Monday and the OPA has recommended that at least one additional assistant be added to the price panel to help with the check-up during the two-week period set aside for it. No further details were given.

A recent similar survey, it was said, of food stores showed one of the weaknesses of the price control program was a lack of sufficient volunteers who would tell their community grocers about it and help them comply with OPA regulations.

Results Helpful
On the basis of that survey, it was explained, the OPA set up machinery for consumers and merchants to undertake price control as a community responsibility.

It was indicated that the initial survey was just one phase of a broad plan drafted on a nationwide scale and that the program included plans for continuation of surveys of restaurants, services and clothing stores.

The first survey, it was said, disclosed only 166,785 actual price violations on the ten food items checked. At the same time 448,041 posting violations were reported in the entire country.

The OPA was represented as considering this as "comparatively low number of violations and as ample evidence that the majority of the grocers are anxious to cooperate with price control measures." The price posting violations were regarded as indicating an "urgent need for more volunteers to help store keepers keep familiar with regulations and bring their stores into full compliance."

Meat Price Ready
With the announcement of the forthcoming price control check, it was said that new price lists
